This programme curriculum is supplemented by the faculty’s Shared curriculum for study programmes at the Faculty of Humanities. Students enrolled under this curriculum are therefore subject to the guidelines and rules described in both the shared curriculum and the programme curriculum.

Part 1. Legal basis

Section 1. Legal basis

This curriculum has been drawn up under the authority endowed by:

- Ministerial Order no. 106 of 12 February 2018 on Admission to and Enrolment on Master’s (Candidatus) Programmes at Universities (kandidatadgangsbekendtgørelsen).
- Ministerial Order no. 1328 of 15 November 2016 on Bachelor and Master’s (Candidatus) Programmes at Universities (uddannelsesbekendtgørelsen).
- Ministerial Order no. 1062 of 30 June 2016 on University Examinations and Grading (eksamensbekendtgørelsen).
- Ministerial Order no. 114 of 3 February 2015 on the Grading Scale and Other Forms of Assessment of Study Programmes under the Ministry of Higher Education and Science (karakterbekendtgørelsen).

Part 2. Admission requirements, prescribed period of study, affiliations and title

Section 2. Admission requirements

Students who have passed the bachelor’s programme in English at the University of Copenhagen are entitled to admission to the master’s programme in English at the same place, directly after completing the bachelor’s programme (legal entitlement).

(2) Other bachelor programmes that grant direct admission are listed at www.studier.ku.dk/kandidat/.

(3) The faculty may admit applicants other than those mentioned in paragraphs 1 and 2 if the faculty believes that the applicant has the same professional qualifications and can complete the programme.

(4) Nordic applicants and applicants who are native speakers do not need to document English proficiency. All other applicants must meet the language requirements described at www.studier.ku.dk/kandidat/engelsk/adgangskrav/.

(5) The faculty can make enrolment contingent upon the applicant attending and passing a supplementary course of up to 30 ECTS. In this case, the faculty sets a time limit for when the supplementary course has to be passed, no later than 1 year after commencing study.

(6) The faculty decides the admission capacity for the master’s programme in English each year. The admission capacity is published each year at www.studier.ku.dk/kandidat.

(7) If the number of qualified applicants exceeds the admission capacity, applicants will be prioritised in line with criteria at www.studier.ku.dk/kandidat.

Section 3. Prescribed period of study

The master’s programme in English is prescribed to 120 ECTS.

(2) If the study programme is combined with a minor subject outside the main subject area (the Humanities), it will be extended by 30 ECTS.
Section 4. Affiliation
The master’s programme in English falls under the auspices of the Study Board for English, Germanic and Romance Studies and the corps of external examiners for English.

Section 5. Title
On successful completion of the master’s programme with major subject in English, graduates are entitled to use the title Master of Arts (MA) in English. The title in Danish is cand. mag. i engelsk.

Part 3. Technical requirements pertaining to study

Section 6. Reading texts in foreign languages
The student must be capable of reading English texts at academic level.

Section 7. Definition of a standard page
A standard page is defined in section 7 of the shared curriculum for study programmes at the Faculty of Humanities.
(2) For the master’s programme in English, the following also applies:
- If audiovisual material is submitted, one minute of playing time corresponds to one standard page.
- The following guidelines apply when calculating the extent of other types of material:
  - Prose
    - A standard page of prose post-1750 = 2,400 keystrokes.
    - A standard page of prose 1500–1750 = 1,200 keystrokes.
    - A standard page of prose 1100–1500 = 900 keystrokes.
    - A standard page of prose pre-1100 = 300 keystrokes.
    - A standard page of prose written in "difficult" language (e.g. dialect) = 1,200 keystrokes.
  - Poetry
    - A standard page of poetry post-1750 = 15 lines.
    - A standard page of poetry 1500–1750 = 12 lines.
    - A standard page of poetry 1100–1500 = 9 lines.
    - A standard page of poetry pre-1100 = 3 lines.
    - A standard page of poetry written in "difficult" language (e.g. dialect) = 12 lines.

Section 8. Syllabus
The syllabus provisions are available on Study Information on KUnet, under Exams → Exam types and rules → Syllabus.

Part 4. Competency goals and academic profile

Section 9. Competency description
Graduates holding a master’s degree in English are able to independently complete assignments that require knowledge of and skills in the English language and cultural and social practices. This includes mastery of techniques for generating knowledge where it does not already exist, and the ability to use this knowledge in a manner that takes into account both its potential uses and its limitations. Graduates possess insight at a level that reflects international research-based knowledge about significant aspects of the English-speaking countries’ literature, language, history and culture. During the thesis-writing process, students acquire expertise in a specialised subject area. They are able to adopt an analytical approach to an academic problem and to structure and present wide-ranging material, and, on an academic basis, develop analyses and models that generate new knowledge. The Master’s degree grants access to further education, including PhD programmes in Denmark and the English-speaking world in language, literature, history and culture.

Section 10. Competency profile
A master’s programme in English gives the student:

Knowledge of:
- the English language and the stylistic features of English-language texts and genres
- international research into historical and cultural developments in the specially studied areas of the English-speaking world
- selected works and authorships in English-language literature.

Skills in:
- producing well-structured, descriptive and discursive texts, and expressing themselves orally, in correct and idiomatic academic English
- analysing and understanding complex English-language texts and discussing their historical, cultural and aesthetic characteristics
- collating and independently processing material on language, culture and society in a manner that updates and enhances the knowledge they have acquired during the Master’s programme
- imparting the content and thought processes in English-language materials.

Competencies in:
- formulating, defining and operationalising a problem in order to structure and implement a project, including selecting material for analysis and supplementary materials that put this analysis into perspective
- independently defining and implementing a major academic project and taking responsibility for its implementation making use of the relevant resources and partnerships
- while working independently on a project, identifying the need for new knowledge and developing both academic and interdisciplinary skills and competencies.

Part 5. Structure and subject elements

Section 11. Structure
The study programme consists of subject elements corresponding to 90 ECTS, including a master’s thesis corresponding to 30 ECTS. The study programme also contains elective studies corresponding to 30 ECTS. (2) The thesis must be written in semester 4 and completes the studies. The student must have passed 60 ECTS in order to register for the thesis.

Section 12. Study programme profiles
The master’s programme in English contains the following profiles:
- Master’s programme in English (general profile) (section 13a)
• Master’s programme in English with upper-secondary-school profile (section 13b).

Section 13a. Master’s programme in English (general profile)
The study programme contains a 30 ECTS mobility window which students use for master’s elective studies, studying abroad, etc.
(2) The student can replace Free Topic 3 (HENK04481E) with Academic Internship (HENK04511E).
(3) The table below shows the structured course of study for the master’s programme in English.

| Exam language(s): English or Danish.
| Materials permitted: All.
| Make-up exam/resit: Conducted in the same manner as the original exam. |
Special provisions

The study board must approve the contract and job description before the start of the academic internship.

The take-home assignment should account for the main phases of the internship, including the functions carried out by the examinee while analyzing the workplace including organisational theory or other relevant theories. A chosen work assignment or type of assignment from the internship must be discussed in detail, in a way that demonstrates how the examinee’s background and competencies assisted him/her in the workplace, with reference to specific language and cultural competencies as well as personal work-related and general humanities competencies.

Students are not allowed to take the internship as part of both the main subject and the master’s elective.
Master's Thesis (compulsory and constituent)
